JUST FLIGHT GETS AHEAD!

Just Flight to sell revolutionary head-tracking device

Just Flight is pleased to announce that from 31st August they will be stocking the TrackIR head-tracking device to complement their wide range of flight sim software. The latest version – the TrackIR Ultra – comes with the vector clip (for attachment to a hat) and the TrackClip which can be attached to a headset or flying helmet. There are also two free games, Battle of Britain II and RFactor (a racing game) included in the Ultra package. The devices are available to pre-order now from the Just Flight website at £119.95 / €179.95 / $239.95 (with free UK postage and 1000 Just Rewards points).

This amazing piece of kit from NaturalPoint takes the immersive aspect of simulations (and many other games) to a new level. TrackIR tracks the movements of the user's head and translates these movements to the screen. Put simply - move your head and the view changes accordingly! You want to see the view from the left of your cockpit? Simply look to the left and the screen view pans to the left. Look up and you'll see the view above.

Although TrackIR is compatible with all the major flight, train and car simulations, it can also be used in other many other games. If you want to take a look round the corner of a building in an FPS or scan the galaxies in Star Wars then TrackIR will let you do it.

Speaking about the decision to stock TrackIR, Just Flight's Richard Slater said: "TrackIR is an amazing piece of kit. The claims are true – once you've used it you'll wonder how you flew without it! Because TrackIR works so brilliantly with our add-ons and we kept getting enquiries from customers, it seemed like a very good idea to add them to our range. They aren't cheap, but then it is a quality product and, with 1000 Just Rewards points available that you can use to save £10 off other Just Flight products, we think this is a great value offer."

SOFTWARE REQUIREMENTS: Microsoft™ Windows Vista or XP

HARDWARE REQUIREMENTS: PC with USB port.
